Index to Volume 41, 1997

Articles

Barcan, A. Response to Stuart Macintyre. No. 2, 199–212.

Bigum, C. Teachers and computers: In control or being controlled? No. 3, 247–261.

Bonser, S. See Grundy, S. & Bonser, S.

Boufoy-Bastick, B. Using language policies to highlight and contrast the values that shape multicultural societies: Examples from Singapore and Australia. No. 1, 59–76.

Brown, T. See Hill, P.W., Brown, T., Rowe, K.J., & Turner, R.

Doyle, C. See Singh, A., Doyle, C., Rose, A., & Kennedy, W.

Farrell, L. Making grades. No. 2, 134–149.

Flynn, M. See Mok, M. & Flynn, M.

Grundy, S. & Bonser, S. In whose interests? Competing discourses in the policy and practice of school restructuring. No. 2, 150-168.

Hill, P.W., Brown, T., Rowe, K.J., & Turner, R. Establishing comparability of Year 12 school-based assessments. No. 1, 27-47.

James, P. Stress in a career transition: Toughness and sensitivity in mature-age males. No. 1, 5–26.

Leggett, B.M. Pressures of managerialism and its implications: Perspectives from the centre and the secondary school. No. 3, 276-288.

Macintyre, S. The genie and the bottle: Putting history back into the school curriculum. No. 2, 189–198.

Macintyre, S. Rejoinder to Alan Barcan. No. 2, 213–215.

McWilliam, E. Gender (im)material: Teaching bodies and gender education. No. 1, 48–58.

Mok, M. & Flynn, M. Quality of school life and students' achievement on the HSC: A multilevel analysis. No. 2, 169–188.

Parker, L.H. & Rennie, L.J. Teachers' perceptions of the implementation of single-sex classes in coeducational schools. No. 2, 119-133.

Rennie, L.J. See Parker, L.H. & Rennie, L.J.

Seddon, T. Education: Deprofessionalised? Or reregulated, reorganised and reauthorised. No. 3, 228-246.

Sefton, R. See Waterhouse, P. & Sefton, R.

Singh, A., Doyle, C., Rose, A., & Kennedy, W. Reflective internship and the phobia of classroom management. No. 2, 105–118.

Spaull, A. Deprofessionalisation of state school teaching: A Victorian industrial relations saga. No. 3, 289–303.

Vlaardingerbroek, B. 'Relevance' revisited: School science educational external efficiency and the production of appropriate human capital in agrarian developing countries. No. 1, 77–89.

Waterhouse, P. & Sefton, R. Teachers at work: Utilising professional teaching skills in industry settings. No. 3, 262–275.

Windschuttle, K. The ethnic myths of cultural relativism. No. 1, 90-100.

Index to Volume 41, 1997

Articles

Barcan, A. Response to Stuart Macintyre. No. 2, 199–212.

Bigum, C. Teachers and computers: In control or being controlled? No. 3, 247–261.

Bonser, S. See Grundy, S. & Bonser, S.

Boufoy-Bastick, B. Using language policies to highlight and contrast the values that shape multicultural societies: Examples from Singapore and Australia. No. 1, 59–76.

Brown, T. See Hill, P.W., Brown, T., Rowe, K.J., & Turner, R.

Doyle, C. See Singh, A., Doyle, C., Rose, A., & Kennedy, W.

Farrell, L. Making grades. No. 2, 134–149.

Flynn, M. See Mok, M. & Flynn, M.

Grundy, S. & Bonser, S. In whose interests? Competing discourses in the policy and practice of school restructuring. No. 2, 150-168.

Hill, P.W., Brown, T., Rowe, K.J., & Turner, R. Establishing comparability of Year 12 school-based assessments. No. 1, 27-47.

James, P. Stress in a career transition: Toughness and sensitivity in mature-age males. No. 1, 5–26.

Leggett, B.M. Pressures of managerialism and its implications: Perspectives from the centre and the secondary school. No. 3, 276-288.

Macintyre, S. The genie and the bottle: Putting history back into the school curriculum. No. 2, 189–198.

Macintyre, S. Rejoinder to Alan Barcan. No. 2, 213–215.

McWilliam, E. Gender (im)material: Teaching bodies and gender education. No. 1, 48–58.

Mok, M. & Flynn, M. Quality of school life and students' achievement on the HSC: A multilevel analysis. No. 2, 169–188.

Parker, L.H. & Rennie, L.J. Teachers' perceptions of the implementation of single-sex classes in coeducational schools. No. 2, 119-133.

Rennie, L.J. See Parker, L.H. & Rennie, L.J.

Seddon, T. Education: Deprofessionalised? Or reregulated, reorganised and reauthorised. No. 3, 228-246.

Sefton, R. See Waterhouse, P. & Sefton, R.

Singh, A., Doyle, C., Rose, A., & Kennedy, W. Reflective internship and the phobia of classroom management. No. 2, 105–118.

Spaull, A. Deprofessionalisation of state school teaching: A Victorian industrial relations saga. No. 3, 289–303.

Vlaardingerbroek, B. 'Relevance' revisited: School science educational external efficiency and the production of appropriate human capital in agrarian developing countries. No. 1, 77–89.

Waterhouse, P. & Sefton, R. Teachers at work: Utilising professional teaching skills in industry settings. No. 3, 262–275.

Windschuttle, K. The ethnic myths of cultural relativism. No. 1, 90-100.

Books Reviewed

Briton, D. The modern practice of adult education (D. Beckett). No. 3, 310–315.

Lee, A. Gender, literacy, curriculum: Rewriting school geography (L. Unsworth). No. 3, 304-310.

Theobald, M. Knowing women: Origins of women's education in nineteenth-century Australia (J. McCalman). No. 2, 216–219.

Book Reviewers

Beckett, D. No. 3, 310–313.

McCalman, J. No. 2, 216–219.

Unsworth, L. No. 3, 304–310.